ISPAHAN, March 2.

IT was not till laſt Month that Thamas Kouli-Kan arrived here from his Expedition againſt Machmet Cach, Emperor of the Moguls. The Treaty he concluded with that Prince is juſt publiſhed. In that Treaty the Great Mogul gives to Kouli-Kan the Title of Schach Nadir, King of Kings, King of Time, the Refuge of the Mahometans, Pattern of Conquerors, Succeſſor and Imitator of Alexander. The Reſt runs thus

'The Great Schach Nadir having ſent me an Embaſſador to treat about ſome Affairs, I did all that lay in my Power to diſpatch him as ſoon as poſſible The Schach would not have been obliged to ſend back to me Mahomet Kamtour Kan, had it not been for the Negligence of my Miniſters, who always delay'd giving an Anſwer and retarded the Embaſſador, rather chuſing to embroil us and ſow Diſcord between our two States than do what I order'd them. This was the Cauſe that Schach Nadir, impatient at not ſeeing his Embaſſador's Return, reſolved to come into my Dominions. We fought; Victory leaned to his Side, and Fortune favoured him ſo far as to make him Maſter of my Empire. He entered Delly, of which he alſo made himſelf Maſter; he ſecur'd my Perſon and took all my Jewels, and moreover obliged me lay before him an Eſtimate of my Revenues. But Schach Nadir having promiſed to ſet him again upon the Throne, I declare him lawful and ſovereign Maſter of all the Territories lying to the Weſt of the Country of Noudbeck, the Sea of Snide, the River Sangoro, Chaour, the Diſtrict of Caboul, the Mountains of Pattan and Jar, the Fortreſs of Yexel, Condahar, and all that depends on Patta and Tatta, reſerving for myſelf the whole Empire of Indoſtan This Ceſſion includes the whole Country lying between Candahar and the River Indus.'

[Here they give us an Account of the Booty made in the Indies by the Perſian Monarch, whereby it appears that the whole amounted to 126,036,363 l. Sterling.]

The Schach alſo impoſed an annual Tribute on the Mogul of 75 Millions of Livres, or 3,400,000 l. Sterling, and fixed the Sum of 110 Millions of Livres for the Support and Charges of the Mogul Court.

The bad Government of the Mogul's Empire occaſion'd this ſudden Revolution, of which we have hardly an Example in Hiſtory. The People groaned under the Oppreſſion of the Grandees. Machmet Chach, a Prince little better than an Ideot, and wholly taken up with his Pleaſures, left the Management of the Empire to Candorem and Camordikan, his two Favourites, who minded nothing but ſcraping up Riches. The State was without Troops, becauſe the Generals charged to maintain them put the Sums deſtin'd for that Uſe into their own Pockets. Rebels from the Coaſt of Malabar and Coromandel uſed to advance in a Body even into Indoſtan, where the little Reſiſtance they met with ſhew'd how eaſy it would be to invade that Empire. While Kouli-Kan was extending his Conqueſts in it with an Army of 80,000 Horſe and 20,000 Foot well diſciplin'd and us'd to War, beſides 250 Pieces of Cannon, Machmet Chach was at Delly, where he thought himſelf very ſafe, thinking he had done enough in raiſing an Army of 200,000 Horſe and 500,000 Foot, with 5000 Elephants equipp'd for Battle, and 8000 Pieces of Cannon; but the Difference was, that the Mogul's Army was raiſed in Haſte, and wanted all ſorts of Neceſſaries. The Battle of the 22d of February 1739, in which 100,000 Men and Part of the Emperor's Family loſt their Lives, decided the Fate of that Prince, and ſecur'd the Empire to Kouli Kan, who reſtor'd it upon the Conditions above-mentioned. Kouli Kan, during his Stay at Delly, coined ſome Money in his Name, with this Inſcription: Schach Nadir is born to be King of the World; he is the King of Kings.

——This ſhort Hiſtory furniſhes Poſterity with an indelible Memento: We ſee here a fine Kingdom loſt, and the prodigious Wealth of one of the moſt opulent Cities perhaps in the World, the Effects of Trade and the Induſtry of the Inhabitants, the Property of innumerable Families, become an eaſy Prey to a foreign Invader, and the Plunder of his conquering Troops, merely thro' the Raſhneſs of the Prince and the Avarice of his Miniſters, whoſe blundering Conduct, and Incapacities for the Reins of Government, were the principal Motives that invited the Conqueror to the Invaſion. On the View hereof, whether Pity for the unhappy Sufferers, or Indignation at the Authors of ſo dreadful Calamities; ſhould have the Aſcendant in a generous Breaſt, we will not ſay; but certainly after ſo remarkable an Example, that Prince or People, who ſhall ſuffer themſelves by the ſame Cauſes to be expoſed to the like Circumſtances, juſtly deſerve to meet with the Fate of the Mogul, the Kingdom of Indoſtan and City of Delly.

An Extract of a Letter from the Hague.

Tho' the Declaration which has been made by the Court of France to the States General, in relation to its Squadrons ſent into America, was filled with Aſſurances of ſincere Friendſhip, and good Intentions towards the Republick, their High Mightineſſes can't help thinking themſelves in a very diſagreeable Situation, ſince the Marquis de Fenelon made that Declaration, the Contents whereof are looked upon, at this critical Juncture; as of the greateſt Importance, and which can ſcarcely fail of having unhappy Conſequences The States of Holland will deliberate upon it in their next Aſſembly, and would have brought it upon the Tapis in their laſt, if that Declaration had been made Time enough to have mentioned it in the Letters of Convocation. Notwithſtanding all the Proteſtations of the Court of France, tending to aſſure the World, that by the ſending its Squadrons into America, it is far from propoſing to attack the Engliſh; yet People here are firmly perſuaded that they muſt neceſſarily come to Blows; and People who ſeem to be beſt verſed in Politicks, and are deeply in the Secret of Affairs, are under great Apprehenſions, that within the Space of two Years, at moſt, the War can ſcarce fail of becoming General. They pretend to have diſcovered discovered some of the Designs that France has formed, not only against the English, but against the Possessions of the King of Great Britain in Germany; and say that there is great Likehood, that in a little while that perfidious Court, under the Pretext of the Affairs of Juliers and Bergue, will carry its Arms into the Territories of his Britannick Majesty; For tho' 'tis certainly known that the French Ministers are negociating with the King of Prussia, for accommodating the Succession of those Dutchies, and are disposed, in order to gain his Prussian Majesty, to secure him without Restriction the latter of those Dutchies; yet the same Ministers, in order to secure the Dutchy of Juliers to the Prince of Sultzbach, will not want a Pretence for causing French Troops to penetrate into the Empire Time will shew whether or no what is above advanced, concerning the Designs of France, be just; tho' in the Intrim, it ought not to be look'd upon as fictitious and chimerical

Philadelphia, Oct. 30 Yesterday arrived here a Sloop from Barbados, by whom we have Accounts in private Letters, that 3 French Men of War of 64 Guns each, were arriv'd at St Vincents, having lost all their Masts, and parted with 20 Sail of French or Spanish Men of War, that were bound to the West-Indies, which 'twas generally thought were all lost.

Letters from Bermudas say, that they had Advice there from Anguilla, that on the 28th of August, a Fleet of near 20 Sail of large Ships, suppos'd to be the Spanish Fleet, pass'd by that Island That on the 29th or 30th, there was a great Hurricane, which did a vast Deal of Damage: And that a few Days after, a Sloop came thro' the Passage between Porto Rico and Hispaniola, where she met Abundance of Wrecks upon the Sea, supposed to be the Ruins of the Fleet above mentioned
